MAURICE TOURNEUR PRESENTS

"TREASURE ISLAND"

BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

A Paramount Arctura Picture

He had come at last! The seafaring man with the black spot!

Blind—tapping with his stick on the tavern floor—he seized little Jim with his claw-like hand. "Lead me to the Captain!"

The black spot! And Bill Bones found him with his throat cut!

Then away to Treasure Island, with a yelling crew of buccaneers, to fight for a chest of gold!

One of the best loved stories in all literature. Thrillingly Re-created! With a huge cast including Shirley Mason and Lon Chaney.

These Pullets Profitable

(Richmond, Ky., Feb. 14)—

profit of $436.44 for January from 1212 White Leghorns and sets has been reported by A. J. Culver of this city, who is conducting a demonstration on his commercial poultry farm in co-operation with the State College of Agriculture at Lexington.

In addition to the profit reported, Mr. Culver sold $150 worth of mature pullets during the month.

The record of the plants operation for January shows the Mr. Culver obtained an average of 127 eggs from each of the 1,213 hens during the month. He sold more than $700 worth of market eggs. His total receipt for the month amounted to $913.08, while his expenses were $476.64.

This is the second year of feeding and management of his farm has been in operation and being handled according to the recommendations of the Poultry Department of the State College. In connection with the January report, it was stated that poultrymen considered the record exceptional.

CHINESE WEDDING IS GORGEOUS CELEBRATION

Merchant Outshines the Splendors of the Old Empire in Settings.

An unusual and most elaborate Chinese wedding ceremony which took place in Richmond recently was that of the daughter of Lin Chin Tsong, Chinese merchant and ship owner, which is described in the London Daily Mail by one of the wedding guests.

The palace of the Chinese merchant is known as "Dreamland." Here, according to the article, he lives with all his sons and daughters and brothers and other relatives who can show rightful claim to relationship. There are so many of them, in fact, that he maintains twelve motor cars for their use.

When the guests arrived in "Dreamland" they found the bride alone at an altar engaged in a religious ceremony. She was dressed in magnificent robes and on her head she wore a gold crown eight inches high, which even in the poorest king and queen days was considered to be some height for a crown. For this particular crown extended in both directions, as it were, for all around it hung long ornaments, which hid the face of the little bride, blushing under her careful makeup, to a point just a bit below the mouth. She wore enough diamonds to outshine an American opera singer, and not one of her fingers lacked the adornment of a ring.

When the happy and doubtless also fortunate bridegroom arrived, six Chinese musicians began working over weird looking instruments and produced what they called a song of welcome to the bridegroom, who was attracted in a robe of blue and gold. After the two principals had advanced to greet each other, the bride retired to an antechamber, where all the guests tried by to congratulate her. After this was over everybody went into the bridal chamber, which contained a bed enveloped in pale pink silk and lace, looped back on each side with silver embroidered curtain loops. A bolster of the same material divided the bed. On the bridegroom's side was a silver sifter filled with tobacco. To look at him nobody would have thought that he was such a heavy smoker as that. After the guests had examined the bridal chamber a number of Chinese girls skipped in and entertained the guests with dancing.

Eurial In Richmond Saturday

Just a little while after the noon train Saturday, the body of Mr. John Walker Ballard, the 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ballard, arrived here from Tucuman, N. M., and was taken in charge by members of the American Legion. A large crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives, gathering to meet the sorrowing mother, father, sisters and only brother, Leslie Ballard, who accompanied the body here. The esteem in which he was held in the community, the town and county, was attested by the vast crowd of people who followed him to his last resting place and by the great mass of beautiful flowers which blanketed his grave.

Where Kentucky Can Get Free Fish For Ponds

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 14.—The State Fish and Game Commission through Dr. R. S. Tuttle, executive agent, has leased from the Wisconsin Chair Company several thousand acres, according to announcement made here. These ponds are restocked with fish several times a year from the overflow of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and from them the commission expects to get large quantities of fish for restocking other Kentucky ponds and streams. Chief Warden C. J. Meredith and his force will establish a camp near Barlow during the summer and operate from that point, hauling fish to all parts of the state. Six carloads of fish were taken from these ponds last fall before the weather became too cold for seining.
